Emilia gives Desdemona's handkerchief to Iago, who says he will leave it in Cassio's lodgings.	Cassio arranges for musicians to serenade Othello and Desdemona; but it only annoys them.	Desdemona tells Cassio she will do everything in her power to convince Othello to reinstate him.
Emilia informs Cassio that Desdemona is speaking to Othello on his behalf.	Desdemona mentions to Emilia that she thinks her husband is concerned with matters of state.	Desdemona pleads with Othello to reinstate Cassio, and he agrees.
Iago steers Othello's thoughts to jealousy about Desdemona's relationship with Cassio.	Iago tells Othello Cassio has spoken of his love for Desdemona in his sleep and has used her handkerchief to wipe his beard.	Othello is seen discharging his duties as Governor of Cyprus and inspecting the fortifications.
Othello returns nearly convinced of Desdemona's unfaithfulness.	Emilia picks up the handkerchief that Desdemona has dropped.	Othello believes Iago and tells him to murder Cassio and that he will murder Desdemona.
